

The New York Times Current History: The European War No. 2, 1914, Who Began the War and Why? (WWI Centenary Series)

This work, originally published in 1915, is a monthly news magazine containing information on the progress of the Great War from the perspective of the United States. This particular instalment concentrates on the various causes for the outbreak of war and analyses the differing versions of events held by the nations involved in the conflict. This book is part of the World War One Centenary series; creating, collating and reprinting new and old works of poetry, fiction, autobiography and analysis. The series forms a commemorative tribute to mark the passing of one of the world's bloodiest wars, offering new perspectives on this tragic yet fascinating period of human history. Each publication also includes brand new introductory essays and a timeline to help the reader place the work in its historical context.
